At Austbrokers City
State we aim to safeguard our partners
from the unexpected

Business is complicated. The pace of change and shifting commercial landscape raises both opportunities and challenges for all leaders. With unknown surprises always around the corner, how do we navigate toward growth?

By arming ourselves with the right knowledge, experience and insights.

At Austbrokers City State, we have a simple, but effective method of ensuring your performance, prosperity and resilience. It's called listening. We know that the key to long term relationships is by carefully listening to our clients, understanding what is required, and accurately and attentively reflecting this in our strategies.

Bob Grbevski
Managing Director

Our commitment to you

We think and act long-term

We look after what you entrust to us and over a long period.

Transparency matters

We expect it of you and demand it of ourselves.

Communication is key

We want our customers to know exactly where they are vulnerable and what our strategy is.

Creative, tailored solutions

We don't believe that one size fits all. That's why we listen to your needs and then deliver a customised solution to deliver real impact for your business.

Brian holds a Diploma in Financial Services (Broking), is a Qualified Practicing Insurance Broker (QPIB) with NIBA and a Senior Associate CIP (Certified Insurance Professional) with the Australian and New Zealand Institute of Insurance and Finance (ANZIIF).

How to ask better questions

We deliver effective mitigation strategies that safeguard our partners from the unexpected.

Many businesses survive and prosper on knowing the answers to questions in a given field of expertise. At Austbrokers City State, it is our job to ask questions. Because, only by questioning what you know, can we anticipate what you don't know. And, while we can't see into the future and eliminate surprises, we can certainly put contingencies in place to combat them.

This is why when we engage a new client, we strive to gain a near parallel understanding of their operations. A strategic partnership with Austbrokers City State is designed to reduce the impact of risk on your business by posing the most pertinent questions and responding with smart solutions.

It's our job to ask questions

What is risk management?

Risk management beyond its traditional scope is becoming more and more important to businesses. Risk exists in every aspect of an entity, and managing that risk is becoming as common as managing people or processes.

We divide each into three main categories:

Good risk management enhances good decision making and typically involves improving transparency, accountability, governance and compliance.

Establishing an efficient and effective risk management framework is fundamental to managing a stable and sustainable business.
